SUNSHINE

Summer feelings ranged from joys to sorrows, fun to boring times and being happy to being angry. Summer months were spent in a wide range of ways, from teachers having babies to others getting married. One winning over $60,000 in a T.V. game show, students going on vacation to a foreign land, others sitting in the hot sun by the pool where the temperatures sometimes reached upwards of 110 degrees. During those hot afternoon hours, we usually had the air conditioning on (and the T.V. too - watching General Hospital!) suffering through that sweltering heat. But it all paid off when the monsoon clouds started to make their appearance over the nearby Catalina Mountains. At times we wished that it would pour with all its might, and on other occasions, we would hope it would by-pass us. (Which it usually did!) When it rained the smell of the Creosote bush and the Palo-Verdes gave off their wonderfully sweet smell. After a summer rain storm, we were all refreshed, ready for another day. All these sights, smells and activities were found during those sunny summer days in beautiful Arizona.

ENTHUSIASM

The beginning of every school year brought a spirit that made us all more determined to do better than ever before. Fall seemed to bring that enthusiasm to each new semester. Every student studied harder in order to start the year off right. The pep assemblies at the beginning of the year made the students feel good about their school and encouraged them to do better. Every athlete in competition was enthused by the student body before they competed so that they could be filled with spirit and play as well as possible. Even without the T/A program of previous years, the clubs still met and elected officers to teach and bring new members into their club. The inspiration of CDO was felt by all, and most of it began in the fall.

ACQUAINTANCES

A lazy sun slanting in from the east, leaving long shadows that play over the rock, brush and sand, as it gently sets in the west. The graceful mesquite and sturdy iron-wood lose their verdant green. These are the signs of winter approaching in the desert. True friendships can survive the cold, harsh darkness of winter. Just as one needs a heavy coat to keep warm in, one needs warm hugs and friendly smiles to keep emotionally secure. Love can melt off the chill of winter and bring with it joy and excitement. Relationships exist between two people because of a common bond. This bond can be anything from sharing a class together, to being in the same club, to participating in the same sport, to growing up together in the same neighborhood.

STYLES

Every year many new styles evolved and brought about many different opinions. One clothing item that was more popular were the Izod Alligator shirts. The most widely chosen color was either green or white Of course, Ocean Pacific formal wear was ever popular, especially the shorts and cords. The preppy look was still in. Oxford shirts were part of the preppy look, along with the Izods As for shoes, there were many Topsider shoes were in with the preppy look, and the Bass sandle shoes were ever popular. Hair styles remained the same. Most boys had short, feathered hair, and the girls were starting to keep their hair short. New styles were always coming out, but especially in the spring, when most of us finally came out of our winter shell

OBSTACLES

Throughout the year many obstacles were met and overcome. These challenges took a variety of forms and were as different as the four seasons Challenges included everything from taking a test to being the best in your sport, to getting your job done lust as the seasons are varied and unique, so is the challenge for every person to express his beliefs and feelings. Other challenges that students faced during a day were getting to class on time (especially after P.E. or Band), passing a test in Mr. Rowe's or Mr. Weismiller's class, preparing a song leader routine in time for the Friday night game, surviving calculus with Mr. Ruiz, being the editor of the Yearbook, and the meeting of Amphitheater at a football game

NOSTALGIA

A crisp edge in the early morning air bit at the skin, the cold dark stiliness of the football field somehow disquieting. Suddenly, in a wash of pastel color, the sun rose over the backbone of the stadium, casting a soft red glow over the field before gliding upward to be framed by the dean lines of the twin goal posts. A moment. Perhaps unlike the many remembered by you as special, but a moment very vivid and unique to the spectator on the field. Each and every student at Canyon del Oro could recall a memorable bit of nostalgia filed away in the vast scrapbook of his mind. What made a moment special? One could draw a ditferent explanation from each person questioned Each of the seasons was filled with a vanety of moments which were special to a large part of the student body. These included Spirit week Homecoming, the girl asks boy Christmas formal, the Junior/Senior Prom, and the Senior Trip

SURROUNDINGS

Surroundings—the view of the majestic Catalina Mountains, a beautiful campus with grass and trees many different buildings with many different shapes sizes and colors. But the biggest surroundings at Canyon del Oro were the students, faculty, and many other busy bodies around the campus. At times we would never notice anything, we were all so busy with so many different activities, and we never stopped to smell the roses. There are just so many difterent things in the world we never think about-good friends, good parents, and good teachers. All of these are part of the surroundings at Canyon del Oro High School Arizona Surroundings are many. The calm spacious sunset over a majestic spacious mountain was frequent. Giant Saguaro's dotted the landscape in the footbills of the Catalina Moun-

New Bosses No Losses

The administration at Canyon del Oro High School changed quite a bit in only one year. Dr Wilson, former principal of Canyon del Oro, accepted the superintendent position after Dr. Neel resigned. From that point on we were without a principal John Ritchie and Chiff Haugh (Assistant Principals) were then assigned to be co-principals of Canyon until a new principal was chosen. Bill Kemmeries was made principal of Canyon on July 1, 1981. John Ritchie is now principal of Amphitheater Ir High, and Dick Evers filled Ritchie's vacancy When Mr. Kemmenes was asked what his first impressions of CDO, were, he said, "Excellent people! I've never had such a great chance to work with so many wonderful people in my life I'm grateful that I'm here "

Lending a Helping Hand

Canyon del Oro had another office on its campus besides the one you went to when you were absent or in trouble it was the counseling office. The counseling department had a few new faces including Mrs. Iles, Mrs. Terry, and Mr. Wendel—all eager to help the students. Students talked to the counselors about personal problems, college applications, and schedule changes. Counselors also aid in communications between parents, students and teachers. One student said. "The counselors were very helpful in selecting a college that offered the courses that I wanted." A warm atmosphere and a friendly face made the counseling office a better place to visit.

Small Groups Aid in Learning

Although Canyon del Oro had many extraordinary programs, there was yet one to be acknowledged its purpose was to provide teacher assistance and give extra help to students who needed it. The classes were smaller which enabled students to get more individual help. The Support Program consisted of five teachers, a speech therapist, and a psychologist. One of the teachers Ms. Letkowitz, said the program not only helped students with school work, but also offered psychological assistance and emotional assistance as well as correcting speech. The program was not only for students enrolled in the classes, but also for any student who felt they needed extra individual help.

Changes Improve Learning

Punctuation and correct sentence structure were key points in good writing. The goals of the English department were to improve students' skills in these areas and to encourage them to express their thoughts and feelings on paper. Canyon del Orogained four new teachers to help reach these goals. Among the newcomers were Mr. Benson, Miss Gritzner, Mr. Hodge, and Miss Loudin. Along with an increase in faculty, plans for a new building were also discussed. Miss Bailey, department head, worked with an architect on the plans for a new Language Arts wing. The new building was planned to have a resource center and a sound-proof room used for special lectures and speech and debate.

Subtract Old, Add the New

Math for Modern Living was the new addition in the Math Department. It was a course which prepared graduating students for the future. The seniors learned about income tax, life insurance, banking, and other helpful techniques to prepare themselves for successful careers. The class was thought of as a survival skills class. However, Math for Modern Living was not the only change. At the teachers' option, some of the General Math classes used a self-paced program. This was advantageous for the students because it allowed them to work at their own rate. A new addition to the faculty was Mr. Barrett, an exchange teacher from Hawaii. The exchange was unusual in that it involved the switch of homes, cars, and jobs with Mr. Bell.

Scientific Equations Are Burned Up

In the school season of 1981-82, the science department displayed that they had very good equipment for the students at Canyon del Oro First they had microscopes which were mainly used for the biology classes. These microscopes were very helpful in the study of small organisms. They also had many other small devices which were just as important as the microscopes. These were beakers, Bunsen burners, test tubes, and other equipment They also used frogs, worms, fetal pigs, and other animals soaked in formaldehyde packaged separately for student use. Although the equipment was very expensive and hard to get, it was available and very helpful to the students of CDO. A campus such as ours was fortunate to have types of equipment as these.

Coordination Is Accomplished

"We now have the best program ever at C.D.O.," said P.E. department head Mrs. Leftler "We have more organization and better equipment than past years." In the warmer months at the beginning of the year, the freshmen were involved in swimming, while the other students participated in different activities such as volleyball and badminton. In the winter the students took indoor sports such as weight training and emphasis dance. Then as the months grew warmer and spring was once again upon us, the students participated in such sports as soccer and gymnastics. "Our goals for tuture years are to have better programs to meet the needs of the students, and to provide the best teaching staff possible," Mrs. Leffler said

It's More Than Just Talk

Taking a foreign language class involved more than just learning another language. It also entailed learning the traditions and cultures of another country. Students were taught history and geography of far away places they may never get to visit. Learning other things such as these helped students understand others' life styles. The Canyon del Orocampus has been visisted by many people from other countries, including students from Belgium Colombia, France, Japan, and the Netherlands Students who have taken a foreign language class were able to understand these people better than others. One student felt that having a foreign exchange student gave her the opportunity to share thoughts and traditions

Business Reaches All

The Canyon del Oro business program attracted many students for a variety of reasons. Many students opted to take Free Enterprise, offered by the business department, as opposed to a similar course offered by the history department. A large number of people felt that a business class was extremely beneficial to take in preparation for other classes. Business courses were also useful in preparation for future careers dealing with the business world, such as marketing, bookkeeping and secretarial work. The business program at Canyon del Oro provided students with much variety as the changing seasons lend to each year.

Individuals Exhibit Talent

At Canyon del Oro, the Fine Arts Building that was constructed in 1979 had finally fulfilled its uses in the 1981-82 school season. The building, constructed in 12 months, housed orchestra, painting and artwork, drama, and many other classes dealing with Fine Arts. The building contained a 705 seat auditorium used for major school plays and other outside activities. It also contained a 280 seat little theater used for smaller plays produced by the drama classes. The building has two large music rooms, one for band and orchestra, the other for chorus and concert choir. Although the building was expensive and took time to build, the building proved to be well worth it for Canyon del Oro-

Building It Bigger Making It Better

the expansion of the Industrial Arts wing benefited practically everyone it helped the students in such a way that they had more room and equipment to work with. The enlargement attracted many more students because of the new and improved design. The wood working room had more space to store projects and also a larger linishing booth. The new space made it possible to make larger products that dealt more with carpentry Some of the problems with the expansion of the Industrial Arts wing were that the teacher could not keep an eye on all of the students at one time allowing the possibility of someone getting hurt and a higher risk of theft, but the expansion still improved the quality of the entire school

A Taste of the Future

Did you know that Child Development and Hero were both Home Ec classes? Home Ec was more than just a group of girls cooking or a student sewing. Home Ec was all about people learning valuable skills to help them with life after school Home Ec was coeducational because the skills oftered were beneficial to both boys and girls. Mrs Shmalzel worked very hard to promote the planning of a second Home Ec wing, close to the present building. The new wing would include a classroom used by Child Development and another room containing a lecture area. Students in future years will draw the benefits of the careful planning done by the Home Ec, department to insure better tacilities for the students of CDO.

Computers Spark New Life

The library had everything one could have wanted, right down to the sophisticated computers These computers were a new thing at Canyon del Oro They had a wide variety of programs such as mathematical problems, historical information and even a large number of electronic games. The library staff had two new faces, Mrs. Schellie and Mrs. Tuliar, They were very helpful in aiding the former staff members, in carding books, and in helping the students and manning the computers George Dubry said, "I think that the computers were of great assistance." Another student said, "I really enjoy working with the computers."

History Classes Dig Into the Past

The history and government department at Canyon del Oro was one of the strongest around Not only were the history and government teachers well educated and organized, but they were among the best known and most involved faculty on campus. Two of the teachers were the school's administrative assistants, Mr. Davis and Mr. keenan Mr. Herner, the department chairman, was a published author. Many of the teachers in history. and government were well known for their student body leadership, their coaching abilities, and sponsorship of many clubs and organizations Senior Roxanna McInnis said, "I felt that the history and government classes I took were very useful in helping me to understand the heritage of my Nation

Being a freshman at Canyon Del Oro is an experience that most of us would like to forget. It's difficult becoming a high school student learning about responsibilities, working harder to reach goals, and being the class everyone picks on Look ahead to a great year and reach for the stars

Canyon Dorado's Proud and Bold

Dorado football is quite a tradition. Over the years Canyon del Oro has become known for its excellent football teams. This year's team was no exception. "My team is going to surprise some people this year," commented Coach Smith. And that they did, becoming a AAA powerhouse. Opposing teams found it more difficult to score, as they were facing the best defense in the city. All this, and it was only the Dorado's second year in AAA competition. Senior Ed Medina stated, "We went beyond all pre-season expectations." the team stayed together, played with pride, and won. The team made Canyon del Oro proud; they went beyond

JV Weather Stormy Season

Despite the roar and excitement of cheering fans, the sense of self-importance, and the mere thrill of victory, Junior Varsity and Freshman players put out every night after school in grueling football practice. Each athlete learned valuable plays daily which helped him acquire the needed knowledge to play the game successfully. They worked hard hours aiming at building stamina Junior Varsity Coach, Roger Norris, planned "to steadily improve and prepare the young men for Varsity competition," and with no major interferences has done exactly that. Belonging to the team required, as the JV-Frosh boys had exemplified, both the ability to communicate and willingness to devote spare time. Even though it is the actual game time that all players yearn for, it is also as one player expressed "the friendship and companionship that lures many of us to try out."

Introducing Canyon's Swingers

"The goal is always to win the state championship no matter what endeavor one takes," encourages Varsity Golf Coach John Ruiz, Golf unlike many other sports at Canyon del Oro, was a game that could be taken up as a hobby by people of all ages. While requiring no immense physical strength to qualify, golf demands strenuous mental concentration and extreme patience. Players diligently strove for perfection Every day after school at the Oro Valley Country Club, they devoted their spare time taming their putting skills, driving abilities, and short game techniques. Such vast dedication and drive exemplified by these young athletes has proven golf to be a great success on the Canyon del-Oro campus

Setting It Up, Spiking It Over

The Canyon del Oro Varsity Volleyball team had a season of five wins and seven losses. The hardworking team was made up of four senior players. eight junior players, one stupendous manager, and a terrific coach. When asked what was unique about the team this season, the team captain, Alice Czech replied, "We improved quite a bit this year and had lots of fun doing it. There was a lot of team. unity and that made it worthwhile" It also helped that the coach got along with the players as well as Coach Eerkes did. The season was a good one and many of the members will have lasting relationships because of the friendships that evolved during the season. As the team manager Louise Gillam put it "Everbody got on real well."

Spiking Up for Green and Gold

"We had a hard hitting team this year," said Gwen Hathaway, talking about how well the JV Volleyball team was at spiking. "We also had a lot of unity and teamwork," added Yvonne Miller, a team member. The JV Volleyball team showed a lot of team spirit in their games and in their hard workouts. The JV Volleyball team consisted of two players that were on the team previously, and the other ten players were new to the team Four girls went to volleyball camp during the summer which made the team even stronger Mrs Dreyer gave the girls the advantage of an experienced coach, who knew what she was doing The team won 7 games and lost 5

Determination Is the Key

Cross Country was a difficult sport that required great determination and dedication. "We work just as hard as any other sport," claimed one runner. This year Coach Jim Pettz's team drew some decent sized crowds. This was due to the fact that the team excelled in every way. "They were just plain exciting to watch," stated one spectator. Canyon del Oro has always had a large team, but never one quite so good. "You have to be a very determined person to compete in cross country," commented senior David Leonard. All in all, this year's team was very successful, making Canyon del Oro's second year in AAA competition a memorable one.

Canyon del Oro's 1981-82 Homecoming was a day tilled with hope, and an evening filled with excitement. A tierce determination of victory occupied the air as Canyon's Dorados took on their stiffest competitor the Amphi Panthers. Despite this immediate pressure to win, C.D.O never lost ground and put forth a tremendos etfort with only a measley deteat 3-0. Yet all was not lost, for in that same night a new King, Craig Vesling and Queen, Roxanna McInnis, were crowned. Alumni arrived. and were welcomed. ### Hopeful Day Eventful Night

Homecoming was a memorable time of year for both the faculty and students at C.D.O. The festivities began with a royalty assembly in the gym to introduce the attendants for each class. At the end of the assembly, Student Body President Matt Perez lit the torch and began the torch run which continued throughout the day and concluded with the lighting of the C.D.O. letters. During half-time each class paraded a float around the track while the Homecoming attendants were introduced to the spectators. Pam Perry and Rod Faccio, the 1980. queen and king, then presented Queen Roxanna Molnnis with her crown. The festivities ended with the procession of attendants, headed by Roxanna McInnis and King Craig Vesling, parading around the track in classic Thunderbirds

Face the Music

The first semester for band was spent primarily marching for football games. Each game added new songs and new movements. The marching band also participated in the band day at the University of Arizona and marched for the Rodeo Day parade, March 4th Students in concert band auditioned for seats by playing scales for memory, by playing a song of their selection, by playing scales put to music, and by sight-reading a piece of music selected by Mr. Hoopes. The audition counted towards part of the student's grade. If students were not satisfied with their grade audition, they could challenge the person that sat in front of them for his chair. This was not a common practice though. Students also participated in the annual solo and ensemble festival on January 30, 1982. The students were graded on how well they did

Singing the Way to Victory

"I like being a porn because we have a part in promoting school spirit," said songleader Tracy McNulty. During the football and basketbali seasons the point spent many long hours making up routines and practicing chants. Tryouts for the point squad involved each girl in performing one compulsory routine, one original routine, doing a series of kicks, and displaying the ability to do the splits. During football season, the songleaders did routines to the songs "On Broadway," and "Sing, sing," The basketball songleaders performed to such songs as "Elvira," "Our Lips are Sealed," and "Hooked on Classics." The songleaders coach, Mrs. Todd, said, "One of our goals is to increase the size of the songleading squad in future years."

Showing Our Pride

The cheerleaders provided spirit for basketball and wrestling. Some of the girls attended a cheerleading camp which prepared some of the basketball cheerleaders for the season ahead. Trying out for the basketball cheerleading squad required learning a dance routine, a stand-up cheer, and making up an original. Trying out for the wrestling cheerleading squad included learning two cheers and making up an original cheer. The girls practiced for an hour every day during school. That wasn't the end of their hard work, however, many hours were spent practicing after school. The cheerleaders did more than just cheer at the games; they also made locker favors for the team members and performed in assemblies. Cheerleading also kept the girls in great physical condition

What a great year it has been for the sophomores. They have the dubious distinction of being the rowdiest class at CDO. However, they sure were tough competition in class events. We are happy to welcome them back next year as juniors and upperclassmen

Full of spirit
And proud to the core
We meet any challenge
As the class of 84

Shooting for Stardom

"The entire Dorado Basketball Team is to be congratulated for their dedication, inspiration, and sportsmanship during the entire season," proclaimed the newly made Varsity Basketball Coach Dan Huff Replacing Bill Humphreys, Huff, in his first year, constructed a well balanced and highly unitied team. Furnishing the team with a positive attitude. and an enthusiasm to practice and play, Huff credited "the Dorado seniors for providing the leadership for an outstanding season" Despite many long and hard hours of training and conditioning the work alas seemed to have paid off. For Matt Paschal, basketball turned out to be additionally good for he proved to be one of the truly outstanding players in the city. What was the Dorado's ending goal? Simple said Coach Huff, "a trip to the state tournament "

Canyon Dribblers Shoot for Two

leff Kramer, who is versatile at both the forward positions, has touch from the line which he backs up just as well from the field. Mike Gatto, the free throw shooter who drives the lane with excellence. also contributed to this year's team. David Martens (leading scorer) and David Britt were standouts underneath the boards as well as on defense. Nick Kuehl, along with Alex Eshweiler, contributed wih strong defensive efforts. Marc Silver, along with the 'Hustler" Mark McGarey, showed signs of excelient ball handling, shooting and handling out the most assists on the team. Mark Anderson also helped as a strong rebounder. Coach Pat Derksen. commented, "We have a super team this year, and I expect great things on next year's Varsity Basketball Team "

Just a Kick in the Grass

The second year of Canyon del Oro's soccer team has been a great success. After the first year of building up the team, they further grew and progressed as a whole. Coach Truitt said, "Our goal this year was to become a competitive team, and I feel we have accomplished that, which was shown by our record." The team consisted of forty members, five who were juniors, three who were sophomores and ten seniors. The two team captains were Alan French and Danny Schweitzer There were three new members that were foreign exchange students: Carlos Botta from Colombia, Bruno Hubert from France and Mike Reneman from Holland. This combination of different cultures made an interesting and winning season for Canyon de Oro's boys' soccer team

On Tuesday, January 19, 1982, the girls Varsity Soccer Team forfeited their game to Nogales because they used an ineligible soccer player

Dribbling on the Court

Girls Varsity Basketball at Canyon del Oro was for the girls that enjoyed playing the sport. Coach Norris said that he liked coaching because of the competition and the girls enjoyed competing too The entire girls basketball season was about eighteen weeks long it lasted from the beginning of February to the middle of May. For fund-raisers they sold Dunkin' Doughnuts. It was very successful because the Canyon del Oro students really helped get rid of them. At the same time their money went to the team to get items like banners, game day shirts, and other items they wanted or needed Coach Norris went about coaching his girls with a positive attitude because he knew they all could play good basketball. The players said, "We all enjoyed having Mr. Norris as a Coach."

Net It Through the Hoops

"We will have a good time. We will have a good team starting," commented Pam Jones, a member of the freshmen-J.V. girls' basketball team. Not enough players existed to have two separate teams. No freshman or sophomore was cut from the team because Mr. Norris, the Varsity Coach, telt it was a time to learn to play and every person should have that opportunity. Approximately fitteen girls participated in the program, with the greater share being freshmen as opposed to sophomores. The girls were coached by Mr. Hull and Mr. Fischer, with practices held after school and some evenings. Initially, the girls played 10 teams throughout the season, they played some of the teams twice. When Pam Jones was asked why she joined the basketball team she said, "I've always enjoyed it "

Take 'em to the Floor

This year's Varsity Wrestling team was strong in certain areas but lacked in others. The coaches had difficulty finding wrestlers for the upper weight classes; however, there were some definite contenders in the lower weight classes. Senior standout Shawn Platt stated, "Wrestling is the most demanding of all High School sports requiring great mental discipline combined with superior strength and conditioning." "There are long hours of practicing and conditioning spent every day during the season commented Gary Sheber. Gary went on to say, "To me wrestling is a unique sport, you practice as a team, but when you're out there in a match no one can help you but yourself. It takes a lot of determination."

Wrestlers Do It on the Mats

The Junior Varsity Wrestling record would have been better if there had been more participation in the upper weight classes. Having to forfeit the last three matches really put them behind. Coach Avilla said, "Everyone on the team is good enough to be varsity starters next year." When asked how he felt about the team, Cecil Argue said, "Although the team record was poor, the individual records were excellent." The freshmen wrestlers, however, did quite well. Coach Golob, in his first year of coaching wrestling said, "If the freshmen wrestlers stick together as a team, they will have a great varsity record." Greg McKee, the team captain, said he enjoyed wrestling because it is an individual sport. All this proved that participation is half of winning.

Goals Are What We Meet

Working on the yearbook was quite a challenge It certainly was one of the liveliest classes on camous. With Mrs. Rowe running around grading papers and the editors helping everyone meet deadlines, the atmosphere in room 810 was constantly tilled with energy and movement. Writers, photographers, and other staff members were never without something to do. "Being on the yearbook staff was more fun than any class I've ever been in," said junior Michelle Wenzel Positions were held by: Nancy Rowe, advisor, John Mineer, Co-editor; James Walbert, Co-editor, Tracy McNulty, Copy Editor, John Craig, Business Manager; Vincent Greene, Photo Editor "Teaching yearbook this year was an insane experience, yet one that I would not trade," said Mrs. Rowe

Publish at All Costs

Palantir's goal this year was to upgrade story quality and content, lay-outs, art and photography They were members of various professional organizations such as AIPI and Quill and Scroll Journalism I was more involved in the production of the newspaper at a much earlier point than in previous years Journalism I was a much larger class which was a good sign that strong interest existed. Stall included Laura Clymer, editor-in-chief, John Smith, associate editor and advertising editor. Alice Brandt feature editor. Don Schorsch artist, and Tim-Loehrke, photo editor. According to Mr. Benson. 'Journalism is like news — fast-breaking and herce "The class is dedicated as long as I have a stick in my hand "Seriously, Mr. Benson was a giving and concerned advisor

One Step Farther

The Canyon del Oro drama department was always striving for bigger and better goals. For instance, Dracula was their first performance on a proscenium stage. Much time and hard work was put into this play. All of the stage props were built from scratch by the advanced drama class. The results of their hard work brought the largest audience they had ever had for a play. Other shows included, "Bend, Tear, and Spindle", "Heaven Can-Wait", and "Catch Me If You Can" The advanced drama class was looking forward to the possibility of a new course. The class would give the students. an opportunity to go one step farther than the present course. One student stated, "Taking a dramacourse was definitely an exciting and challenging experience"

Crankin' the Live Tunes

The outstanding vocal groups at Canyon del Oro definitely contributed to the wide varity of activities offered. The most select group was the Canyon Singers. Students underwent and intensive voice audition in order to gain membership. These were also involved in concert choir to receive further voice training, as the Canyon Singers were mainly a performance group. Both groups participated in several concerts and music competitions. Canyon Singer Roxanne Kapferer said, "I really enjoyed being in choir because it gave me the opportunity to improve my voice and gain experience in performing. The choir groups' activities included a Christmas concert at San Xavier mission, a fundraiser to pay for the new choir dresses and the Canyon Singer's trip to California

Taking Notes— (Vocally)

"To be in Girls Ensemble you need to have a good voice and be dedicated to singing," said Advanced Girls Ensemble member kim Orchard Throughout the year, the Girls Ensemble and Mixed Chorus gave many concerts at vanous schools and community organizations, such as the Veterans Hospital, local shopping centers, and evening performances for parents. Through such fundraisers as the sale of cheese and candles, including the donations received at concerts, the choirs earned enough money to purchase new outfits. All the choir members agree that chorus is a very satisfying and rewarding class, despite all the hard work involved in trying out and practicing the many difficult songs they perform. "My goal for future years is to add another mixed chorus class," said choir teacher Mr Waggoner

Key Club Unlocks Doors to Life

What did the Key Club do? They didn't make keys. The Key Club at Canyon conducted many events to raise money for charities. The main charity sponsored was UNICEF. To raise money, events such as bowl-a-thons were conducted. With Mr. Evers as the advisor and Danny Schweitzer as President of the club, the group travelled about raising money for the deprived people of Tucson. These people made it possible for UNICEF to make Tucson provide for its own. It takes people like these to make the world a happy place to live. Without them, the world would be filled with too many needy people. People like these were few, and CDO was proud that such a group existed on campus. The Key Club made many needy people thankful

Moves Made in Mysterious Ways

The Chess Club at Canyon consisted of many new players. Each proved to be tough rivals in competitions. The team travelled all over the state and city for their AAA competitions, "They're having a rough year," said Mr. Cortez, the new advisor of the club. At the beginning of the season, when this interview was taken, the team was not in a favorable position among the ranks. However, the team seemed to be shaping up considerably every meet. Among the many good players of the year, one seemed to be outstanding Mike McCarty, the president of the club. The advisor of the club, Mr. Cortez was a very good player. A good advisor is always needed to have a playing team that is competitive

A Small Taste of Victory

Sottball at Canyon del Oro got off to a slow start The two coaches had a very trying time getting their two teams together. After the coaches got their teams organized there was another team problem, winning Both the varsity and junior varsity worked very hard the entire season. Angle Salas remarked, "I enjoyed being part of the varsity softball team at C.D.O." The varsity softball team had a hard time competing against other Tucson teams Mrs. Reavis-Zeck was the new varsity coach. Miss. Holt was the new junior varsity coach; all her players really respected her and her advice for the team. Towards the end of the season the softball teams both had a turning point, and that was enough to get the ball rolling

Vault to Victory

Julie Genzer, Shannon Winckel, and Donna Wittman were the three returning members in gymnastics. Gymnastics was under the direction of Linda Holmes and Mana Schwitzer Practice began in October while their first meet was in March Students practiced sixth period until five o'clock during the week. The top six in each event were involved in the meet. The top three scores made up the team score. Not as many teams existed as in the past to compete against due to budget cuts. Most people strove to participate in all events. The team was stronger individually as opposed to a group

Gymnastics Is Art in Form

The Boys Gymnastics Team had thirteen team members. Eleven of the thirteen gymnasts returned from last year. The two new players were Steve Plevel and Jeff Wirth. The team practiced every day. for two or more hours. They met with each school only once. Their season lasted from March to May. When asked about how he felt about the squad, Harlan Herner stated, "We have lots of potential." Their toughest competition was Catalina For the third straight year Bob Jensen was the Boys Gymnastics Coach. For the first year Ms. Holmes was the women's coach. The two squads practiced together and took each others' criticism in a way that would help their respective event. Some of the events for the boys were the rings, pommel horse, floor, parallel bars and the high bar

Love Forty Match Point

The sport of tenns at Canyon del Oro was operated differently than any other sport. The freshman tennis team, coached by Ed Karner, had its season at the beginning of the school year of 1981-1982, but the varsity and junior varsity's season was at the end of the 1981-1982 school year. The coach of the varsity and junior-varsity was Mike Rowe. The reason for the split season was few people existed who played tennis up to our standard. The freshmen play at the beginning of the year, so they can play as junior-varsity players at the end of the year. This insures that there will be enough players for all three teams The split season at Canyon del Oro did very well in past years, and it seems they will do even better in the future

Athletic Ability, Pride & Success

Boys' Track got off to a flying start. The track coaches this year consisted of Mr. Truitt, Mr. Peltz, Mr. Nagel, and Mr. Avilla. Some of the track members remarked that they loved being on the track team because it helped them stay in shape as well as staying fit for the upcoming meets. A typical day at practice started out with calisthenics and was tollowed by practice runs and massive workouts in the weightroom. The boys' track team used to be totally different from the girls' team, but this year the only thing that was different was that they had separate lockerrooms James Walbert remarked, "Though the track team was small and very inexperienced, all in all, we had a fun season." Track ended up being a very prosperous sport for both coaches and athletes

Running with Stride

The girls varsity track team at Canyon del Oro, coached by Jim Peltz and Jim Truitt, did very well in the school year of 1981-1982. The girls' track team. consisted of thirteen track and field events. There were three dashes: 100 meter, 200 meter, and the 400 meter dash. There were 3 runs. 800 meter, 1600 meter, and the 3000 meter run. There were two relays: the 400 meter and the 1600 meter relays. Plus there were the 110 meter low hurdles, the high jump, long jump, shot put, and the discus-Although the track team of females at Canyon del Oro were short on participants at first, people kept coming and it became a complete success.

Not Just Splashing Around

If you had Mr. Seidl last year or any year for that matter, then you know very well that when swimming started, Mr. Seidl changed. Swimming added a tremendous amount of pressure to his every day life. Most all of his afternoons were devoted toward coaching the swim team. His practices consisted of hours of long hard work. Relays and many drills were just part of the practice. Developing of techniques was one of the main goals of the swim team. One student said that Mr. Seidl was a very strict coach. Being on the swim team did not mean just swimming, it meant many difficult exercises and running.

Quick! Catch That Ball!

"A good turnout," stated Werbylo. This year's team had a better turnout than was expected Coach Werbylo said, "Last year was our building year, and this year we are going to explode like a bomb." In essence, the Varsity Baseball team did in fact "explode" like a bomb, and the team's members showed this by their team unity. "One of our players that shows potential is Junior Brock Anderson. Anderson showed excellent ability in the field," stated Werbylo. As a closing comment Werbylo said, "Just you wait until next year! We'll be bigger and even better than before!"

Batting with Pride

AAA competition was far more demanding and much tougher than AA competition. Nevertheless, both of the coaches felt their teams would fare well despite this fact. Determination and enthusiasm were key factors to the teams' successes. Both teams practiced long and hard each and every day of the baseball season. These practices paid off as coaches and team members alike could see almost daily improvement. One member of the team summed up baseball by saying, "It's truly an exciting sport in which you can be a team member as well as show your individual talents." Both the Junior Varsity and Freshman teams had several outstanding baseball players, which also provided a nucleus for the next year's Varsity Baseball team.

Debate: Argues Their Way Up

The Debate Team at Canyon del Oro was involved in an increasing number of fights in the school year of 1981-82. Not fist fights, but arguementative fights. These debates were prearranged without the involvement of the individual teams. These teams chose either to debate the given case or sit it out. The leaders of the debate team were Senior Martha Thomas. President, and Senior Kari Bishop: Vice-President, Martha and kan competed as a team in the debate tournament held at the University of Southern California on November 7 and 8, and took third place. The team of Lisa Bertalan and Sheila Maxwell also did very well, taking fifth place. Vice-President Kari Bishop expresses, "The Canyon del Oro Debate Team surely had the potential, and did very well in competition." Although there were several new members on the debate team, it was one of the best Canyon del Oro ever had

Interact Serves the Community

The Interact Club of Canyon del Oro was here to stay in the school year of 1981-1982. The Interact Club was sponsored by the Rotary Club of Tucson, and the school sponsor was Señora Margaretia Fisher. The president of the Interact Club was Chris Gage, and Vice-president was junior Joellyn Roof. The main work of the Interact Club was the same as their sponsor. The Rotary Club of Tucson, community services. The members of the Interact Club feit the club would grow and be more prosperous in the immediate future. Although the Interact Club had few members in the beginning of the school year 1981-1982, as the year went on, and the Interact Club became more popular, the new members just would not stop coming.

Working with Their Hands

The Clay Club at Canyon del Oro High school was an opportunity to have a career, while you were working with your hands. Basically the Clay Club was an organization for people who wanted to make sculptures and works of molding and casting with their own hands and minds. There were about nine students in the club compared to the same amount in the past school of 1980-1981. Although the club had not grown in size, it had surely grown up in maturity and know how. Most of the students in the clay club were in the sculpture class, but there were a few exceptions which goes to prove that the club is opened to all of the student body.

"Where It's At" C.D.O's D.E.C.A.

Making, selling, and delivering the traditional Homecoming flowers is but one minor task of a Canyon del Oro D.E.C.A. student. Students involved in Distributive Education Clubs of America engage in all kinds of projects which help both themselves and others. If they weren't throwing a Halloween party for mentally retarded adults, they were competing in the state, city, and regional conferences. They aided the Muscular Dystrophy Association by raising close to 4,000 dollars with their highly successful danceathon, and they once again sold chrysanthemums for Valentines Day DECA, a co-curricular club, offers to its members an opportunity to combine both classroom work with practical job experiences. Its only requirement to join was enrollment in either the Marketing or Merchandising class. In addition, the club possesses none other than CDO's finest, Barbara Greenway, who has acted as teacher/coordinator for the program for the past ten years. Remarking on behalf of her club. Greenway explained that she was most pleased with "the closeness" she has attained with her students, allowing her to get to know them on an "informal and casual basis" But also, she adds, that she simultaneously enjoys "the club and class activities."

Great Opportunities Provided

C.O.E. and F.B.L.A. were two of C.D.O.'s business programs. Senior Kaye Nicholson stated, "C.O.E. provided me with a thorough understanding of the business world as well as an opportunity to work on campus." C.O.E. was on of C.D.O.'s vocational programs. The students received a credit for a first hour class, a credit for on-the-job training and a salary of no less than minimum wage all in one program. F.B.L.A. provided an avenue program, for professional development as well as civic and community leadership. F.B.L.A. members were involved in office orientation and competitions. Together, both programs provided experience in the business world.

Across the Miles— A New Life

The Canyon del Oro AFS club was kept busy throughout the year planning events and holding fundraisers. In the beginning of the year, AFS hosted a very successful after-game dance and bake sale. The club also made money by working the concession stand at the wrestling invitationals C.D.O hosted several exchange students in 1981-82, including Carlos Bota (Colombia), Michiel Reneman (Netherlands), Louise Gillam (Australia). Michele Nicodeme (Belgium), Claire Lorentz (France), and Bruno Hubert, this year's AFS sponsored student from France. The other students came to the United States through various other organizations "I think being an exchange student is a marvelous experience for students, and so I'm happy to be associated with the AFS club," said Mrs Schelie

HERO Strives for High Goals

HERO, the Home Economics Related Occupations club, did many things throughout the year to better Canyon del Oro and the surrounding community Several conventions, fundraisers, and community services kept HERO busy all year. They contributed food to the MDA dance-a-thon and the Red Cross Blood Drives. The members also participated in a Cerebral Palsy Bowl-a-thon. The purpose of the dub was for the members to develop a sense of civic responsibility and social awareness through involvement in school and community activities. Despite the many hours of work spent, all the members agreed HERO was a worthwhile club 'HERO is a great chance for kids to grow in leaderhip and responsibility," said Mrs. Schmalzel, the HERO advisor. "Our goal for future years is to get more students involved in the many different cooperative education classes offered here at CDO"

174 Photography Roxanna McInnis Lavout Brenda Roberts

Leaders Promote Involvement

'Our main goal is to promote student involvement and increase the sense of school spirit which has been sadly lacking in past years," said student body president Matt Perez. "This year we are beginning to see a renewal in student spirit. It's a small start, but we see it growing in such things as interclub council, the success of rooters buses, and the resurgance of successful dances." In the cool months of autumn, Student Government was busy working on Spirit Week and Homecoming When winter came, Student Government was still hard at it planning the Christmas Formal With the coming of spring, the Junior class worked on the prom, while other Student Government members planned events and fundraisers

"Seeing Without Sight"

Guide dog was a different club at Canyon del Oro. The club met once every two weeks and realfy worked out. The dogs were trained by students until they were a year old. Then the dogs were sent to the International Guiding Eyes School in California in the dog's first year of training, a student taught the dog the basics. The basics included sitting, standing, staying, and laying at the student's side. During the training, the dog was tested by a student. If the dog stayed, he was highly praised, if not . . . All in all, the guide dog club was a big learning experience for the members

"Speak Without a Sound"

Sign language was a one of a kind club Seth Dubry said that they were working on harder individual words, rather than songs or performances. Sign language is a way of communicating to others without speaking with words. Ms. Lefkowkitz worked very hard for the class and helped to make it possible for them to perform in front of a deaf audience. The club was working very hard for the event, they had to know and understand what they were saying to make the performance go well and look good. Seth said that the new students in the club were hardworking and learned many different signs very quickly. With all those things going for the sign language club, no wonder it was fun.

"American" Foreign Students

Canyon del Oro had the good fortune this year of having several foreign students attend our school. Michiel Renemen from the Netherlands Claire Lorents from France, Michele Nicodene from Belgium, Carlos Botta from Colombia, and Bruno Hubert from France were the 1981-82 foreign exchange students. Louise Gillam from Australia, attended classes at C.D.O. during the first semester of this year and was good friends with much of the student body. The students came to America through many different organizations including American Field Service, American International Youth for Understanding (YFU), and Rotary Most of the students had to take between 5 and 8 years of English before coming to America, and they said that coming here has greatly expanded their knowledge of the English language. It was a long and difficult process which each student had to go through to be able to come to America. There were many forms to till out and much money to raise before the student could come to America. "I'll miss CDO and the many very nice people I met here," said Michiel Renemen. All the foreign students felt it would be very difficult for them to leave their American families and friends "I will deeply miss the many American and foreign friends I made here in America," said Michele Nicodeme

Blood Drive Brings Success

The American Red Cross Association held a blood drive at Canyon del Oro on Wednesday December 2, 1982. To give blood you had to be 17. years of age. Many seniors and teachers gave blood, which added up to 85 units. Each unit represents one person. The blood drive was from 7 00 A M to 4 30 P M. When all of the people gave blood, they would have to rest for about a halfhour, so that their system could recuperate from the loss of blood. Because of this, many students missed some of their class time. To check for Iron deficiency the nurse would take a sample of blood from the ear lobe. One girl fainted from the sight of the needle. The blood drive was a success, but still more blood is needed. The blood drive was a nonprofit organization

New Fashions Develop New Needs

The Home Economics Clothing Class had a Fashion Show which counted as their final exam in doing this, the students had to buy their own materials and make their own clothes. All of the students were girls, who made dresses, skirts, and blouses. Their teacher Mrs. Paxman said it took about 3 weeks for each project to finish. There were two different groups—the beginning class and the advanced class. The beginning class had to make 2 projects and the advanced class 3 projects Each project was worth 100 pts each. About 30 students participated in the Fashion Show. The Fashion Show was held in the little theatre of the Fine Arts building.

'My Work, My Hobby, My Life'

"All we are is dust in the wind" sums it up best. We float around, and just find another place to rest, and the wind picks up again it. # happened: this year at Canyon del Oro. Shirley Mattausch; Athletic Secretary, Sherry Holman, teacher of Spanish, Mary Swiderski, Counselor, and Nicole. Walker, teacher of Mathematics have all left C.D.O. either forever, or just for a while until the wind blows again. When asked how she felt about leaving, Shirley Mattausch commented, "Mixed emotions! I'm torn between two lovers and one is stronger.* She went on to say; "I'll never work at anything but a school again. All the kids just make my day! The nice people around me 8 hours a day are enough to make me cry." Shirley. Mattausch is following her husband to Phoenix, while Sherry Holman is taking a leave of absence to have a baby. Mrs. Holman will be back next year. Mary Swiderski also left to have a baby. When asked how she felt, "I'm excited about the baby, and I'm looking forward to it." It turned out that: Mrs. Swiderski had a baby girl and named it Arny Swiderski. Arny was 8 ibs: Nicole Walker math teacher, quit because she wanted to be at home with her baby. We wish them all the best of luck in whatever they do:
